June Newsletter

Hi all,
Here are the winning images from June's meeting...

Theme: Eyes

First place was this beautifully composed image of a Spotlight parrotfish eye by Rob Bailey. Taken a few years ago in Eilat with a 60mm lens.

Second was Cathy Lewis with these clownfish eggs. Frustratingly they were tucked into an overhang which made it tricky to avoid the distracting corner. 60mm lens with SMC1. Taken in Anilao in February

A number of images received one vote.

Congratulations to Gordon Taylor with this novel take on the theme. His jellyfish photo was taken in St Abbs in June.

Right: Rob Bailey's colourful image of a goby on soft coral also received a vote

Below right: Simon Yates' image of a plaice is unusual in being shot from behind, but worked surprisingly well

Presentation by Sandra Stalker

A superb talk, packed with inspiration - for those who missed it you can watch it via BSoUP's video archive.
